Perfect Hair

Indicates a natural and healthy condition of the scalp, and of the glands through which nourishment is obtained. When, in consequence of age and disease, the hair becomes weak, thin, and gray, Ayer's Hair Vigor will strengthen it, restore its original color, promote its rapid and vigorous growth, and impart to it the lustre and freshness of youth.

I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for a long time, and am convinced of its value. When I was 17 years of age my hair began to turn gray. I commenced using the Vigor, and was surprised at the good effects it produced. It not only restored the color to my hair, but so stimulated its growth, that I have now more hair than ever before.—J. W. Edwards, Coldwater, Miss.

For six months I suffered from liver and stomach troubles. My food did not nourish me, and I became weak and very much emaciated. I took six bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and was cured.—J. M. Palmer, Springfield, Mass. tt

STATE NEWS.

Cumberland.

A few nights ago Eben N. Perry, Esq., of Portland, started to go into the office of Strout, Gage & Strout, as he thought, but mistook the door and entered the elevator shaft of Bailey & Noyes, the door of which, opening on the street, had been left unfastened. Mr. Perry stepped in quickly and was precipitated through the open shaft some twelve feet to the bottom of the cellar. He was insensible for a short time. He escaped without broken bones, but received severe bruises on the left hip and about his head. He is now able to move about by the use of two canes.

Franklin.

The Pittsfield Advertiser says a Frenchman by the name of Leroy, living in the woods at Eustis, has recently fallen heir to $45,000, by way of his grandfather's death in France. This Leroy married an Indian lady, and on hearing of the fortune awaiting him in France, left his wife, made the journey there and back again, a sister of his coming with him. Leroy brought his wife a present of a gold watch and chain, and went back to his home in the woods to live for the present.

Knox.

The cooper shop of Mr. A. L. Farrar, at Razorville, Washington, together with 1,000 pairs of heading hoop poles, cooper's tools, etc., was consumed by fire, Tuesday morning; no insurance, and no cause for the origin of the fire has been discovered.

Lincoln.

Damariscotta and Newcastle are thinking of having water works. Many prominent citizens of those places will, it is said, present a petition to the legislature desiring a charter to make them a corporation for the purpose of conveying water from Damariscotta lake for the supply of the two villages.

Waldo.

Prof. L. C. Bateman, of Searsmont, writes to the Belfast Journal that while in New Jersey he dug into the grave of Corn Horse, the great war chief of the Delaware tribe of Indians, and found a battle axe, a dozen tomahawks, and seventy-five flint arrow-heads.

As Stephen Coffin and wife of Thorndike, were returning from Belfast, Saturday, and had passed over the J. C. Littlefield crossing at Waldo, their horse took fright at the approaching down train, turning and upsetting them both into the ditch, unshipping the hind sled and running with the forward sled toward the crossing where he made an effort to gain the track just ahead of the train, but fortunately the sled caught on a post by the crossing, throwing the horse down the embankment, thus preventing a most serious accident, no one being injured.

York.

Tracy Hewes, one of the oldest and best known traders on Main street, Saco, met with a serious accident on Christmas eve. He was taking in the goods that had been exhibited at his store door during the day, and in reaching for some that were farthest off, the stool on which he was standing slipped, and he fell heavily to the sidewalk. He managed to get in and close up his store but on reaching his residence, on School street, it was found that he had received severe injuries. The next morning at his store door was found his pocket book containing a number of bills, receipts and a five cent piece, but the money, from one hundred and sixty-five to one hundred and seventy-five dollars was gone.

The wife of Menzies L. Moody, of Biddeford, was frightfully burned on Wednesday, says the Times. The accident occurred about six o'clock in the morning. She was at work near a small air tight stove, and it is supposed that the bottom of her dress caught fire through the front draught; when she discovered her situation it was almost too late, for the flames were running all over her clothing. Her cries reached the ears of David York, who occupies the up stairs tenement, and he rushed to her assistance and extinguished the flames by wrapping a blanket about her. The unfortunate lady is a fearful sufferer, and, though everything that can be done for her is brought in requisition, yet it is feared that the accident will prove fatal.

Short Cuts.

John Tyler, who was well known in New York, was found dead in his room at a hotel in South Norwalk, Conn., November 13, had forty-one policies of insurance on his life amounting to $260,000. It is now alleged that many of the policies were fraudulently obtained and will be contested.

On Sunday night there died in Cincinnati Frank Weigman, the oldest man in Ohio. He was born in Germany in 1781. He was a soldier under Blucher and was wounded at Waterloo. He was only four feet and a few inches in height, but until just before his death was always in good health. He had no pain before his demise and passed away in a peaceful sleep.

Colonel Frederick Grant has a small aquarelle painting in a gilt frame. It represents a group of Indians and shows evidence of artistic skill and training. "It is one of a series painted by my father," said Colonel Grant to a reporter.

When Harry Jackson and his wife, of Little Neck, L. I., went to church Sunday morning, they left their little twelve-year-old son, Harry, to take care of his younger brother and sister. The little ones played around until Harry, in ransacking a bureau drawer, found his father's revolver. "This is the way they do it out West," said he, and he flourished it around his head. It went off and killed him.

W. W. Corcoran, the Washington millionaire, celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday, on Monday, by distributing a large amount of money to hundreds of beneficiaries, who all sincerely pray that he may live long and prosper.

Senator Evarts believes in the heredity of education.

Ohio is said to be the best State for lecturers in the Union.

Some of the newspaper wits are inquiring into Tennyson's meaning when he speaks of Edith as "feminine to her tender feet." That doubtless has reference to the St. Louis custom of crowding a No. 6 foot into a No. 4 shoe.

Henry M. Stanley, the explorer, is still in London. He will start on Thursday for Zanzibar. It was given out to the newspapers that he has declined an offer of $40,000 to return to America and complete his lecturing tour.

Jack Cummings turns out to be a Chicago coal-dealer, named Witrock.

St. Paul will open her "Ice Palace Carnival," Jan. 17. Rare sport is promised in the two weeks of festivity to be inaugurated.

Some of the Havre de Grace gunners are getting a few ducks, but canvas-backs are very scarce. As much as $8 a brace was offered on Friday by Eastern dealers for prime ducks, and only a few brace could be had at that price.

There is a grade crossing near Boston at which nobody has been killed for twenty years until last Sunday; but it caught its man at last. The grade crossing is more deadly than the coal oil can and the didn't-know-it-was-loaded pistol, combined.

Percy Compton, an English actor, has just finished a sentence of three weeks' imprisonment for marrying a ward in chancery.

Hogs are dying in large quantities in the southern part of Cerro Gordo County, Iowa, with what seems to be a disease of the lungs. Some drop dead instantly, while others linger several days, refusing to eat or drink anything, and finally die.

The prize for the winner of the ocean yacht race to be sailed next summer under the auspices of the Royal Thames Yacht Club in honor of the Queen's jubilee will be $5,000. In English money it is £1,000, but, as it will be scooped by a Yankee craft, we take the liberty of changing it into American money.

Senator Logan was 60 years, 10 months and 15 days old at the time of his death.

Mary Anderson, the actress, shone in a new light the other day. The boat that was to take her from Boulogne to Folkstone started while she was in the buffet. Mary got aboard only by a remarkable steeple-chase leap, which is said to have caused every young Englishman on the boat to repeat "By Jawve!" at regular intervals during the passage.

Chauncey M. Depew, president of the New York Central road, recently issued an order to passenger brakemen, directing them to "step inside the car door and call out the name of the station in a clear, distinct tenor voice." A few days later he received the following note:

DEAR SIR: Wot kind of a tenor voice do you eckspect to hire for $40 a month? Yours truly, JIM.

Another "mammoth cave" is reported, this time in Missouri. The first exploration was only a partial one, but took in several chambers and was prosecuted for a distance of a quarter of a mile, and still other chambers and labyrinths of passages lay beyond in several directions. The scenery is reported to be indescribably beautiful, the abundant stalactites and stalagmites assuming all sorts of fantastic shapes.

Houston (Texas) has a Limburger club. It is said to be a strong and popular organization.

Senator Bowen, of Colorado, is acknowledged to be the most expert poker-player in Washington.

A novel ice boat has been invented, which ought to be of service in polar expeditions. The object of its construction, however, is far more practical and useful. It is for the Michigan Central Railroad, and is to have a capacity of thirty cars, to run across the Straits of Mackinaw. It will be of peculiar construction, designed especially to overcome the hitherto quite insurmountable obstacles that have been encountered in the Straits of Mackinaw in midwinter. By an ingenious expedient the new boat breaks her own way through an ice floe by immense screws at either end. It is estimated that under the most adverse circumstances the boat will be able to make the passage in one day, where a trip of nine days has been not uncommon in bad times, heretofore.

Whig and Courier.

BOUTELLE & BURR, PROPRIETORS.

C. A. BOUTELLE, EDITOR

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle & Burr, and communications intended for publication should be addressed: "Editor of Whig and Courier."

MONDAY, JANUARY 3, 1887.

Those in a position to know say that Governor-elect Bodwell's inaugural will be a remarkably sound business document.

"Do not make so many new resolutions, but keep some of the old ones," is the sensible advice of Howard, the well known journalist.

The Speakership contest in New York has been settled and Gen. Husted will receive the unanimous nomination of the Republican caucus.

The President's physician complains that the President will have his own way.—Boston Herald.

Except when he goes Senator Vest's way, as in the case of District Attorney Benton.

It is amusing to read in Democratic print the awful charge against the New York Republicans that they propose to use their majority in the Legislature to elect a Republican partisan to the United States Senate. Had the Democratic scheme to capture the Legislature proved successful Gov. Hill would have been elected as a strictly non-partisan Senator, of course.

The Machias Republican says: "Great credit is due Congressman Boutelle from this district for the prompt manner in which the Eastport Custom House bill passed the House and Senate. No District in the country is served more promptly and faithfully than that of the Fourth Maine. Mr. Boutelle is an energetic young man, and has been steadily gaining in the estimation of his constituency ever since his first term in the National House."

The Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post having telegraphed that paper that Land Commissioner Sparks is very much opposed to civil service reform, the editor says he cannot believe it as Sparks ought to be the last person in the world to complain at any law tending to secure competent officials, "seeing that he mistook a tailor for a surveyor." Yet this Mr. Sparks who does not know a tailor from a surveyor, holds his present responsible office through the grace of President Cleveland, the Post's ideal reformer.

A little girl only about eight years old has been arrested in New York for stealing and on examination testified that she was induced to commit the thefts by a woman with whom she was living. When arrested the child had $118 secreted in her clothing. The woman has also been arrested and when she appeared in court was handsomely dressed. If the child's story is true, and thus far it seems to be accepted, the woman who would thus deliberately set about ruining the life of an innocent child of this tender age ought to be given the severest punishment possible under the law. At best the penalty will be light in comparison with her offence.

As yet no explanation of Eugene Higgins' remarkable performance in suppressing one of Secretary Manning's official telegrams has been vouchsafed from Washington. Higgins has repeatedly been shown up as an unscrupulous politician, but he still retains his popularity with the Administration. With Mr. Garland at the head of the Law Department and Higgins cutting a fall swarth as Appointment Clerk reform seems to be at a discount. Will some of our Mugwump contemporaries please inform us why the President fails to take notice of the "worst Administration scandal" in the history of the country on the one hand and the shameful misuse of power on the part of a political heeler on the other?

The Railway Age is authority for the statement that almost exactly eight thousand miles of railroad were constructed during the year 1886. This amount of building has been exceeded in but two years in the history of the country. In 1881 9,796 miles were built and in 1882 11,568 miles. Of this 8,000 constructed in 1886, 3,352 miles were in the Southern and Southwestern States. In the Northwest 2,553 miles were built. The rest was distributed through the Middle and Pacific States, with the exception of thirty-one miles to be credited to New England. The Age estimates the cost of all this new roadway at $160,000,000, to which the expense of equipment is to be added to make up the year's record of new railway investment.

The stupidity, or malignity, or both, of certain Democratic and Mugwump organs is shown in their efforts to connect Mr. Blaine with nearly every Senatorial election now pending in the different States. One day they declare that his political career is ended and the next ascribe to him more power than would ordinarily be yielded by a small regiment of men. The object in bringing his name up in connection with the Senatorial contests is, of course, the hope of stirring up strife among the disappointed candidates and their friends. Pretty small business that, but is just about in keeping with usual Democratic methods. The fact is these Democratic organs are so much alarmed at Mr. Blaine's strength that they will lie as in this case and possibly would steal if they thought they could influence the action of the next Republican Convention.

While certain of our contemporaries are sympathizing with the farmers of this country, claiming that free trade is what they need to increase their prosperity, the Lincolnshire Chamber of Agriculture recently passed the following resolution:

"That this meeting is of opinion that the fearful depression both of trade and agriculture is intimately connected, and that both are caused by foreign competition, resulting in low prices which are affecting all the industries of the country; that false free trade is a failure obtained at the expense of the native producers. This meeting, therefore, begs to urge on its representatives in Parliament and the Government the necessity of speedily taking measures to prevent the ruin which is impending over trade, and, especially over the land of this country and all concerned in it, either as owners, cultivators or tradesmen."

If free trade is the panacea for all business depression how comes it that England is now suffering to such an extent that the farmers, the very men it is contended would be benefited by free trade, are now begging for a change in the policy of the government to save themselves from ruin? The fact is no class of people are more interested in the policy of protection than the farmer. In this State, with the Canadian farmer ready to step into our market, it is absolutely essential to their continued prosperity.

The New York World pleads with the President to make the last half of his Administration more satisfactory to the Democrats and let the Mugwumps go. It also invites him to "open wider the books and turn more light on the records of Republican ring rule." This last is mere nonsense. For the past two years the books have been in the hands of the Democrats and no sensible person will for a moment imagine that an exposure would have been delayed had the accounts been otherwise than correct. The trouble with our Democratic friends is that after howling about Republican corruption in the departments for years, they find to their intense disgust that the business of the government has been admirably conducted a fact sufficiently demonstrated by the inability of their smelling committees to ferret out any crookedness. In this respect the departments afforded a striking contrast to their condition when the Democrats turned the government over to the Republicans after a long period of Democratic rule. Their condition in 1889 when the Republicans will again take charge of the books, remains to be seen.

Democratic Fraud in New Jersey.

On the face of what they call the returns the Democrats gained at the recent election a majority of the Legislature on joint ballot, and with that a United States Senator and about all else of political value that it was possible to gain at one election. This alleged face of the returns gives the Democrats forty-one votes out of eighty-one on joint ballot—a bare majority. But this majority includes one seat obtained by bungling burglary of the ballot-boxes, one seat for which the only shadow of a claim rests in the failure of Governor Abbett to obey the plain intent of the law, and one seat held by a man who is said by his friends to be an utterly irresponsible lunatic. Besides these members the Democratic side of the House is made up of a little more than the usual proportion of "doubtful" men and a few really decent people. There are two laboring men whose votes the Democrats also claim, but on no better foundation than their constitutional predilection for claiming everything. The seating of the Republican whose seat has been stolen, and the holding of an election to fill the vacancy into which the Governor is trying to force a Democrat whom a Democratic Judge has declared not to have been elected, would give the Republicans forty votes on joint ballot and leave the balance of power in the hands of the two labor members. Senator William J. Sewell expressed tersely and energetically the Republican view of the situation when he said:

"What time I can call my own during the recess of Congress I am devoting to an effort to see that we get a square deal. Personally, of course, I have a large stake in the contest, for I should like very much to be re-elected to the seat I have filled for the last six years. But for the present I have tried and I think succeeded in divesting the matter of any personal feeling so far as I am concerned. I see an outrageous attempt being made to cheat the Republicans of the State of the right to a fair count, and I propose to do my level best to defeat the attempt. Afterward, if I can be re-elected to the Senate, I shall be glad. If I cannot, I shall give way to some one who may more ably, but I know can no more sincerely, endeavor to advance and protect the interests of those whom he is sent to represent. The situation simply is that on anything like a fair deal the Republicans have a fighting chance to send a Republican to succeed me at Washington. On a fair count they have thirty-nine members, the Democrats the same number, the labor men two, and there is one vacancy to which a Republican will certainly be elected if an election is held. It is possible that the Democrats would win, even then, by the votes of the labor men, and if so no Republican will squeal. But we don't mean to be swindled. The short of it is that we are going to have a square deal or a big fight. I think it will be a square deal. Governor Abbett can get all the floaters on the Democratic side, if he is willing to make promises enough, and with them he can get the caucus nomination."

The situation as to the two seats to which Senator Sewell referred as stolen is very interesting. The first one is in one of the districts of Camden County. The returns on the night of election showed the success of the Republican candidate by forty-five majority, and no one thought of disputing this. A day or two before the recount was to take place prominent Republicans were warned that a job had been put up on them. Several of the boxes turned out dozen of ballots with the name of Haines scratched off and that of Turley, the Democratic candidate, written in its place. On each of these ballots the change was made in the same handwriting, in the same pace and in such a manner that it was plain that the writing had been done after the ballots had been strung on a string at the count, and without removing them from the string. The five Democrats and three Republican election officers unanimously swore that the returns as given out on the night of the election were correct. These showed 172 votes for Haines. The doctored count gave him only 152. One hundred and seventy citizens and voters in the township were then produced who swore that they had voted for Haines. The others who did the same thing were sick and unable to be present. The change of twenty votes in this township is alone enough to seat Haines. The situation in two other townships is precisely similar to this one.

The Mercer County case differs from that in Camden in kind but not in degree. A recount was had and errors were discovered on both sides which changed the result from a Democratic majority to a tie. The Chief Justice before whom the recount was had, declared that it showed that neither party had been elected. Meantime, however, the Democrat had obtained the certificate of election. The law in cases of a vacancy occurring in the Legislature by death, failure to elect or otherwise, provides that the Governor or the Legislature when it is in session may order a special election to fill the vacancy. Governor Abbett, seeing a chance to gain a vote for himself in his fight for the United States Senator failed to call any such election, and will endeavor or to force the Democratic candidate into the House at the organization, on the ground that he holds the certificate of election. There is a little difficulty about this in view of the fact that in the Camden District the Democrat will take his seat because the order of the court declaring him elected supersedes the election certificate given to the Republican, while in this case the election certificate is expected to stand before the order of the court declaring that there was no election. The man whom the Governor is trying to put in in this disreputable way it is thought, has too much manliness about him to be a party to the scheme. There is good reason to suppose that the latter may block the Governor's game. Mr. Walters, the Democrat who was not elected in the Mercer District, is understood to have expressed some squeamishness about taking an office to which the Chief Justice had formally declared that he has no title.

Those Good Old Times.

Roll back the time long years ago,
The happiest ever yet was seen,
When children rambled through the wood,
To gather Wintergreen.

If sick, they had the quickest cure,
That ever yet was seen—
'Tis Nature's grand restoring balm,
BALSAM OF WINTERGREEN.

No cough or cold withstand its cure,
Its healing balm applied,
For old and young, for one and all,
Grand Nature has supplied.

MARVELOUS IN ITS EFFECTS!

Mothers, save your children from the annoying and fatal effects of pin worms, by giving

DR. JOHN F. TRUE'S

JUSTLY CELEBRATED

Pin Worm Elixir

A GREAT DISCOVERY!

It is claimed to be the safest, most potent and most effectual remedy known for this child killing Disease. As a cathartic vermifuge it has no equal. It expels all kinds of worms, and in fact all living creatures that infest the bowels of suffering humanity, are triumphantly expelled by this truly wonderful remedy. Testimony in its favor comes in from all sections where it is known. It not only effectually removes from the system these troublesome and disagreeable worms, but children who have been weak and puny for years, are at once improved and restored to health by its use. Being a mild and gentle laxative, it is a corrective of the greatest value. It is purely vegetable and cannot be beat. It has also expelled several lizards. One eight inches in length, is spotted, belongs to the water species and looks like a veritable young alligator. Fits caused by worms and indigestion.

For RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA and NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

Though we do not claim that VEGETINE will cure every case of rheumatism, there is positive proof that it has cured many. In fact, its power to correct the acid condition and chemical changes in the blood which produce the disease has become remarkable. You can use nothing with greater certainty of success. It has cured when other remedies failed. Use VEGETINE with perfect confidence for any blood impurity. For Canker in the Mouth and Stomach, Ulcers, Pimples, Boils, and all skin diseases, it always gives satisfaction. For dyspepsia, female weakness, and debility, there is not a medicine known that equals it. Evidence from thousands of the best families in the country substantiate this statement. It purifies the blood, and that is the secret of its great value as a vitalizer of the exhausted functions.

So far no disasters have been reported as the result of the storm of yesterday.

The crew were saved by the life saving crew. Including iron ship Samaca, ashore at Rehoboth, and the schooners Ruth Carlisle, ashore at Fenwick island shoals, and William Barley, on the strand, at Delaware Breakwater, the value of vessel property bound to this port now ashore and in danger of total loss will foot up over $600,000.

THE ADAMS EXPRESS ROBBERS.

Witrock and Weaver Brought to St. Louis.

Witrock Asserts Fotheringham's Innocence.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 1. Robert A. Pinkerton and Superintendent Damsel, of the Adams Express Co., arrived this morning from Kansas City with Fred Witrock and Assistant Superintendent Robertson, of the Pinkerton Agency, brought the accomplice Weaver from Chicago. The prisoners were handed over to Janitor Siegmund, the famous "Jim Cummings" attracting much attention. Both men were interviewed but had little to offer. Witrock said that he and Haight planned the robbery, and all stories about Mrs. Haight were false. Fotheringham knew nothing about the robbery and suspected nothing wrong after he, (Witrock,) entered the car, until he was thrown down.

Mr. Pinkerton was interviewed and said: "We have nearly completed our work now and have turned up the larger part of the money, about $50,000.

There are still $7,000 or $8,000 out and we expect to receive the greater part of it. My brother Billy and some of our agents are looking that up now, so you see the Express Company are not such very heavy losers after all. The major portion of the money was found under Oscar Cook's house. He was an accessory, after the fact, and if convicted can be made to serve a good term in prison. Weaver weakened at the last moment. He was to ride on the front platform of the Express car and was to give warning of any approaching danger but he backed out. Witrock, however, had to put up $1,000 to induce him to keep his mouth shut. All of that money has been recovered except a few dollars which he spent."

Cook Arrested for Complicity.

KANSAS CITY, MO., Jan 1. Oscar Cook was arrested to-day and bound over for a hearing on Monday on charges of receiving money and valuables obtained in the Pacific express robbery.

Whitrock, Weaver, Haight and Cook to be Tried.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 2. Fred Witrock, Thomas W. Weaver and W. W. Haight, the latter of whom was brought here from Louisville, to-day, were photographed to-day. These are the only members of the gang who will be prosecuted in this city. All others who were arrested have been released, with the exception of Oscar Cook, who will answer to the court in Kansas City. All of the stolen money found in possession of Kinney and Mrs. Haight has been recovered and as they knew nothing of the robbery until their arrest, the Express Company consider that nothing is to be gained by prosecuting them.

Fotheringham Believed to be Innocent.

As to Fotheringham's guilt or innocence the detectives and officials of the Express Company have little to say. It is pretty generally believed, however, that Witrock's contemplated statement of the robbery will remove all suspicion that Fotheringham was in any way connected with the robbery.

THE ANARCHISTS' RIOT.

Another Fatal Result Probable.

CHICAGO, Jan. 1. Officer Michael O'Brien, of the Central detail, who was wounded at the Haymarket riot, is in a critical condition. Two weeks ago his limbs began to trouble him again. A second time he was sent home and a physician called. Officer O'Brien's left thigh is now swollen to double the normal size and his friends fear blood poisoning. Physicians hold a consultation to-day. Officer O'Brien was wounded by a fragment of a dynamite shell and a bullet. He has a wife and three small children.

THE KANSAS TRAIN WRECKERS.

Important Discoveries Made by a Detective.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 1. In the trial of George Hamilton, at Wyandotte, yesterday, the most important witness was George Fowler, a detective, better known as "Brother Alfred." It was he who came here ostensibly as an emissary of Master Workman Powderly and thus worked himself into the confidence of the alleged train wreckers. He told the story of his experience in working up the case. In the course of his testimony he stated that Mayor Hannon of Wyandotte, who is a Knight of Labor, had promised the witness before the latter revealed his identity to do what he could to shield the reputed wreckers.

Witness called a meeting of those implicated, giving out that it was a consultation to decide what was best to be done to escape detection and Mayor Hannon himself sent a buggy to bring the parties to the meeting. Witness' purpose was to arrest the parties when they all came together. Witness also testified that Sheriff Ferguson returned the grip of the Knights of Labor when given him by witness.

Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather the day was generally observed by the suspension of business and by social calling. Before noon the rain ceased and the day brightened somewhat. At the White House all of the preparations for the public reception were completed last night. The Blue parlor, where the reception took place, was lavishly decorated with great banks of cut flowers and nodding palms. The Marine Band was stationed in the main hall during the ceremonies.

A few minutes after 11 o'clock the Marine Band began to play "Hail to the Chief," and the Presidential party came through the central hall and passed into the blue parlor. President Cleveland led the party with Mrs. Manning on his arm. He was in full dress and walked without any perceptible lameness, although his gait was slow. The President looked uncommonly well after his recent illness.

Following the President came Secretary Bayard and Mrs. Cleveland, Secretary Manning and Mrs. Endicott and Secretary Endicott and Mrs. Vilas, Postmaster General Vilas and Secretary Whitney and Col. Three west bound passenger trains became lodged in drifts, five miles east of here and it required nearly all day with five locomotives to bring it to this city.

Last night's east bound trains had another bad time. The New York fast express became caught near New Buffalo and the Grand Rapids train following crashed into the rear, damaging the Wagner sleeper and injuring the fireman and a reporter. No freights are running. On the Wabash Railroad much the same trouble is being experienced. The Louisville, New Albany and Chicago fared best, but they had a great deal of trouble. Field, Esq., were chosen a committee with full power to act in the matter and they are already in correspondence with different builders.

In the last number, just received, is an article on Hon. Henry W. Paine, of the class of 1830, by A. H. Briggs, Esq., of Boston. Mr. Paine's favorite recreation, it appears, is solving mathematical puzzles. It is said that he can multiply five numbers in his mind as easily and correctly as most men can on a slate, and, nevertheless, deplores his loss of memory.

MR. APPLEBEE'S LECTURE. Of Mr. James Kay Applebee who is to lecture in this city to-morrow and Thursday the Chicago Times says: "Mr. Applebee's success in drawing crowds and in holding them night after night for an hour and a half is really remarkable, and can be explained only upon the theory of great oratorical power. He is an orator of remarkable gifts, who always sways his hearers apparently without any effort. His command of language seems unlimited, his style of thought vigorous and clear and his personal magnetism very strong. The lectures were more than entertaining. Those who listened to them had occasion to congratulate themselves."

AUGER FOR USE IN WINTER FISHING. A well known Bangor landlord, who is something of a sportsman, thought a few days ago that he would depart from the old custom of cutting holes through the ice for winter fishing and show his associates what modern invention had done to lessen labor. He had heard of an ice auger, about six inches in diameter, made for winter fishing, and he sent for it, at the same time endeavoring to impress upon his fellow fishermen what a marked improvement he was about to make. The "ice auger" came a few days ago, but it was a common two-inch ship auger. The matter could not be kept secret and scores of fishermen have called upon the owner to see that "celebrated" auger. He now declares against winter fishing altogether.

President Wm. DeWitt Hyde, of Bowdoin College, will be greeted with a large and very appreciative audience at the Central Church this evening when he lectures upon the "Cultivation of the Attention." The address was delivered by him at the late meeting of the Maine Pedagogical Society and unusually well received. Such a subject under the handling of President Hyde cannot fail to interest an audience.

P. Young, and three former members have died. Total receipts for the year, $330.43; total expenditures, $264.13.

An Interesting Occasion.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

At the Universalist church Sunday morning, notwithstanding the prevailing snow storm a good sized audience were in attendance and listened with deep interest to an able and instructive sermon by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Peck, upon new resolutions for the new year, giving an encouraging and helpful view of the secret, sacred, personal relation of man to his Maker and inculcating the exercise of forbearance and charity by all for all, since no one is wise enough or knows enough to pass judgment upon the conduct of another. After the services the pew of Mr. L. Nichols was the centre of especial attraction. Its occupants were the venerable Lemuel Nichols, senior, 97 years of age, still hale and strong with sight and hearing but little impaired, Lemuel Nichols, Jr., aged 59, Charles W., his son, 29, and little Robert Lemuel, son of Charles W., a bright eyed boy three years of age. Four generations, with almost a century between the extremes, at church occupying the same pew, they presented an interesting sight that one might not again witness in a lifetime. They received many congratulations from their friends, and the eye of the large hearted Lem. beamed with just pride and pleasure. May the coming years of the venerable gentleman pass serenely and all be present in the same place to observe his centennial anniversary.

Decision at Law.

The following decision at law has been received by Charles F. Sweet, Esq., Clerk of the Eastern Law District.

HANCOCK COUNTY CASE.

Robert Carter & ux. vs. John Harden.

Rescript—The female plaintiff was riding with her husband behind his horse, which he was driving. The horse became unmanageable and ran so violently as to throw the female plaintiff from the wagon, and injure her.

The defendant had sold the horse to the husband some eighteen days before this occurrence. The plaintiff claims, that the defendant falsely represented to the husband that the horse was kind, and a good family horse, when in fact it was a "runaway;" and that the horse was bought upon the strength of those representations.

The evidence however does not show that the defendant made any representations to the female plaintiff, or to any agent of hers or with any expectation or intent, that she would act upon them. Hence she has no cause of action for such representations.

"Plaintiffs non-suit."

B. T. Soule for plaintiffs.
C. P. Dutton for defendant.

Business Items.

WHAT DO WE OWE TO INVENTIONS? The extent to which mankind is indebted to a few of its members for many of the conveniences and comforts it possesses, is hardly appreciated, even by thinking people.

Every labor saving machine or device invented, reduces the price of some necessity or luxury of life, and so in time luxuries become necessities by being placed within the reach of persons of moderate means; and thus it is that the homes of the mass of the people to-day, have more of comfort and elegance than could be found in those of the wealthy a few generations back.

Princely fortunes have been reaped by many inventors, but it is too often the case that the man from whose active brain is evolved an article of genuine merit, fails in obtaining a just return for his ingenuity, even though the patent laws of our country are held to be among the most liberal in the world.

The only safe method to be observed, is for the inventor to secure the services of a reliable and experienced solicitor to aid him in securing his patent; one competent to judge of the merits and patentability of his invention; conversant with the routine and details of the Patent Office, and whose past success gives guarantee for all business that may be intrusted to his care.

As such a one, we gladly commend Mr. R. H. Eddy, of 76 State Street, Boston, to all. His card in our present issue so familiar to our readers for many years gives more particulars.

Causes the Stomach and Bowels to become disordered, and the whole system to suffer from debility. In all such cases Ayer's Pills give prompt relief.

After much suffering from Liver and Stomach troubles, I have finally been cured by taking Ayer's Cathartic Pills. I always find them prompt and thorough in their action, and their occasional use keeps me in a perfectly healthy condition. — Ralph Weeman, Annapolis, Md.

Twenty-five years ago I suffered from a torpid liver, which was restored to healthy action by taking Ayer's Pills. Since that time I have never been without them. They regulate the bowels, assist digestion, and increase the appetite, more surely than any other medicine. — Paul Churchill, Haverhill, Mass.

INVIGORATED.

I know of no remedy equal to Ayer's Pills for Stomach and Liver disorders. I suffered from a Torpid Liver, and Dyspepsia, for eighteen months. My skin was yellow, and my tongue coated. I had no appetite, suffered from Headache, was pale and emaciated. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills, taken in moderate doses, restored me to perfect health. — Waldo Miles, Oberlin, Ohio.

Ayer's Pills are a superior family medicine. They strengthen and invigorate the digestive organs, create an appetite, and remove the horrible depression and despondency resulting from Liver Complaint. I have used these Pills in my family, for years, and they never fail to give entire satisfaction. — Otto Montgomery, Oshkosh, Wis.

New Year's Address

OF THE CARRIERS OF THE

Bangor Daily Whig and Courier, January 1, 1887.

Twelve times and once around our earth
The moon has her bright circle made
Since Eighteen-eighty-six had birth—
Since I my annual visit paid
To you my friends and Patrons kind
And sang to you the Carrier's lay;
Old custom has to him assigned
This duty on each New Year's day.

Now, as above the hill-tops rise
The solar-beams to usher in
The new year, Eighty-seven, he hies
To sing his New Year's song again.

As sped the months—the weeks—the year,
Each day at early morn I came
And brought you news from far and near;
Of storms and wreck—of towns aflame—
Of evil deeds and deadly broil—
Of wrongs by cruel, selfish Greed
Inflicted on the sons of toil,
The poor and helpless in their need.
Too long the list to be reviewed,
Too dark and sad the tales it tells,
Of murd'rous deeds—of bloody feud—
Of homes transformed to earthly hells,
Where children starve and mothers weep,
While fathers in wild revels waste
Their time and means which well might keep
The dread wolf, hunger from his home,
Save his poor flock from sore distress
And shield them from the wintry storm.
But I must not to glance, forbear
At some of the events that marked
The passage of the vanished year:
See Charleston to her centre rocked
Upon the dread seismic wave,
As if upon a billowy sea,
When wildest tempest loudly rave,
And spires and walls fell crashingly!
Behold her frightened people reel
Amid that awful scene of fear,
And to the Infinite appeal
While Death held mighty revel there.
The goodly city rent and torn—
Her crumbled walls—her people driven
From homes that stood so fair that morn,
Now by the mighty earthquake riven,
May well appeal for sympathy
And help amid such ruin dire;
And countless hearts responsively
Met that demand, as men meet fire—
With swiftest speed and eager hands.

Now turn we to the North our thought,
Where raged the furious Fiend of flame
Unchecked, and quick destruction wrought,
And walls and roofs its prey became—
The Orient town in ashes laid
Whelming her citizens in grief;
They sought and not in vain for aid—
From sister cities came relief
From generous hearts and willing hands.
And when o'er Farmington, the fire
Swept as it sweeps o'er prairie lands
And left her but a smould'ring pyre,
Help at her call as promptly came,
But woe to him who lit that flame!

These sad calamities afford
Occasions for those gen'rous deeds,
Which, when misfortune strikes the chord—
"Th' electric chain" of Brotherhood
Not oft the sufferer vainly pleads.

Another theme seeks mention here,
Important, but I pass it by
In silence, though throughout the year
It clogged the wheels of Industry;
For 'tis a subject far too deep
And too far-reaching in its sweep
For me its rights and wrongs to know,
Therefore 'tis meet I leave it so.
A darker phase of reckless greed
Is seen where anarchs sow the seed
Of discontent, which fain would fire
Our Nation's Temple, dome and spire—
Break down its walls to earth and shiver
Its Doric columns and forever
Bid Wrong its revels o'er them keep
Would license Anarchy to spoil
The wealth which centuries of toil
Have gathered for our goodly land
And spread with such a lavish hand
O'er all our Country's broad domain,
To gorge its idle, reckless crew.

But I no longer will pursue
This theme with death, and ruin fraught—
May Heaven bring all its aims to nought.
And now I gladly turn my eyes
To where the goddess, to the skies
Lifts up her torch to guide the bark
When storms are wild and night is dark
Along the coast where dangers lurk
France, thou hast done a noble deed.

Bartholdi's Statue well may plead
The cause of Brotherhood and Peace:
And may that Pharos never cease
Its lessons to the world to give,
That Freedom may forever live.

Not yet the record of the year
I close, for there was much, to cheer—
Aye more of good than ill was ours—
More bright, glad days than gloomy hours.
The blessings which with gen'rous hand
Kind Heaven has shed upon our land,
As sped the months and weeks along,
Demand remembrance in our song.
Progress, Prosperity and Peace
Have marked our favor'd Country's course
Through all the year—Our fruitful soil
Has well repaid the Farmer's toil
Who, from prolific acres stored
Rich harvests for the winter's hoard;
Commerce has borne o'er land and sea
The products of our industry;
No pestilence with fatal breath
Has swept o'er us its flood of death
While other lands the scourge has borne
And stricken peoples made to mourn;
We as a nation have been spared—
The boon of Health have largely shared.
For these let grateful thanks be given
For these good gifts of bounteous Heaven.

Now having wander'd far away
For scenes and subject for my lay,
Homeward with willing heart I come
To add one strain for our loved home—
Our noble, beauteous City. Where,
In all our land, or, far or near
Is found her rival? nay—her peer?
Let others call this lavish praise—
We care not—she shall wear the bays—
Upon her brow the laurel stays;
We've crown'd and hail her "Orient Queen"
And long and honor'd be her reign.
And now I'm sure you think 'tis time
To end this simple New Year's rhyme,
So here we part, as oft before,
With hope that we shall meet once more.

[Written for the Transcript Monthly.]

Duty.

FRANCES L. MACE.

Once heard I must be heeded; though askance
Thou look upon me, liking not my face
Better to enter with me on the race,
Even though my shadow glooms the fair expanse.
Wouldn't flee from my unlovely countenance?
Or seek forgetfulness in change of place?
If fled, I follow with unslackened pace,
Slaying thy happiness with vengeful lance.
Let me not be forsaken nor forsworn!
I am not what I seem, O faint of heart!
Accept me, heed and trust me as thy friend;
So shalt thou see me of my terrors shorn,
A strong, true comrade as the years depart,
And thy most gracious angel at life's end.

Agricultural and Household Matters.

How to be an Agreeable Guest.

What a difference there is in visitors! Some are as agreeable and unobtrusive that their presence produces no friction in the domestic machinery of their friends' households, others so fussy and finical that the only pleasant feature of their visit is the day of their departure.

Of course some are so compounded or put together that all the rules and hints one might give cannot make them agreeable; they are out on the bias and will always be a little askew. But the person of average good-nature and intelligence can, by observing the following rules, suggested by the Ladies' Home Journal, at least avoid being positively tedious.

Where it is possible, write your friends of your intended visit, asking if it will be convenient and agreeable. Surprises are often disastrous and unsatisfactory; also intimate the probable length of your stay, whether over a train, a week or a month, that your friends may plan accordingly.

When expecting to be met at the station, be sure and state the day of the week as well as month, and the train on which you will arrive. Be sure to send the letter several days in advance, especially if to the country; it may save you a day's weary waiting at some out-of-the-way place.

While a guest make yourself amenable in a certain degree to the habits of your friends' household. Do not attempt to ride your hobbies or air your special isms on such occasions; it is not in good taste. One should adjust their taste, sight, smell, etc., to the different conditions of the homes she visits. It is far from pleasant to feel that our guest has, with the plummet-line of her superior wisdom, fathomed our shallows in domestic economy or family government, found a disagreeable odor or discovered the "skeleton" in our closet.

Again, make it a point to eat breakfast with the family, no matter how early the hour, though your hostess insist that you "need not do it." You have ample time for an afternoon nap.

While your friend is busy doing up the morning work or cooking, do not follow her about chattering like a magpie; in nine cases out of ten it will be very troublesome and result in burnt nick-nacks or biscuit without shortening.

Try and be of some service. Though an invalid you can quietly take upon yourself some light task that will greatly relieve your friend and add materially to the agreeableness of your stay, such as darning the stockings, brushing up and dusting the sitting room, taking care of the baby, or whatever may not be too irksome to you.

Be sure to care for your own room, unless a second girl is kept for this purpose. Keep your room tidy; do not have your things strewn all over it or over the house. Some visitors who are very notional about their apartments when at home, still act as though they had special license to keep their friends' spare room in a pandemonium state. When leaving be sure the room is in perfect order, swept, dusted, crockery clean and bed made.

Do not put your clothes into the family wash unless certain it will not incommode; even then, always pay your friend or the servant, if one is kept.

It is only the ignorant who attempt to entertain their friends the entire day; it is very annoying. Leave them awhile each afternoon for their private reflections and duties, and amuse yourself with book or work in your own room.

A truly polite guest will try to be equally agreeable to each member of the family, and by noticing some awkward or shy child may do much towards developing her. Never allow an aged, infirm or otherwise unfortunate person to feel that you are not interested in them.

Remember it is very disagreeable to have your guest constantly expatiating on her aches and pains, her sleepless nights, domestic infelicities and like gloomy topics; and equally so to have her always speaking of her rich relatives, how they do in the city, her trip to a foreign land, etc. Modesty suggests subjects with a small i.

People visiting in the city should endeavor to dress tastily, though their means may dictate extreme simplicity. It will add materially to their enjoyment as well as that of their friends. A neat, stylish, travelling suit, a wrapper for morning, and an afternoon dress, with a choice variety of neck garniture, will make one presentable in almost any society for a short visit. Those visiting in the country should be careful not to make a foolish display of their finery.

Tokens of love and remembrance, however simple, are always pleasant; and it is well to remember the servants.

Lastly, if you desire your stay an agreeable visit rather than a visitation, do not stay too long. Take your departure while your friends are still anxious for you to remain.

Now is the time for cutting scions to be used for grafting in the spring. The best authorities say success in grafting depends on a certain degree of similarity or affinity between stock, and the graft varieties of the same species unite most freely.

In many country places the district school in winter affords the only educational advantages which the mass of young girls and boys can hope to enjoy. Parents and guardians during this season of comparative leisure should visit the school in their neighborhood and learn for themselves the progress that children are making. It does not matter that greater advantages may hereafter be given the pupils now attending them. Nothing can make good the time and opportunities lost in early life. It is a common mistake to suppose that less experience and teaching capacity are required for the best management of very young pupils, and the country school is too often left to the teachings of those with no experience in teaching, and with knowledge only a little in advance of the most forward pupils. This economy in a matter of the greatest importance is of the penny-wise, pound-foolish kind that ends in poverty and loss.

The Boston Cultivator says the firmness of the iron market and the rise in price during the past year are considered hopeful indications of the business future. Agricultural products should advance with the renewal of business prosperity, and undoubtedly will do so. The experience of the past few years shows how uncertain a basis the farmers of this country would have for their goods if dependent wholly or mainly on the foreign demand. Europe prefers to buy her food anywhere else rather than from America. Our home market must be supplied by home-grown food products.

Grange Matters.

C. E. Gilman, Esq., of Houlton, and J. O. Kyes and wife, of Wilton, formerly of North Jay, are among the most interested and valuable members of the State Grange, and have not been absent from its sessions for many years.

Penobscot County, according to the Secretary's report, has lost forty-eight members during the last year, but still has between two and three hundred more Patrons than any other county in the State.

The three counties of Maine having the largest number of Patrons, adjoin each other and are Penobscot, Waldo and Hancock, with an aggregate membership of 5,0?7 more than a third of the whole number in the State.

The National Grange has sixty thousand dollars in its treasury. It voted to expend five thousand dollars for extending the order under direction of the National Lecturer and Executive Committee.

Lamoine Grange under the administration of its lady Master, Mrs. Cousins, has made an excellent record for the year which has just closed. The membership has been increased to over two hundred, embracing the best citizens of the place and its vicinity. Their store with a trade of upwards of a thousand dollars a month, has done a profitable business. They have also erected a large building to be used for store and hall, which is nearly completed, and will be ready for occupancy in early spring.

The Boston Globe one day last week had the following well-merited, pleasant and complimentary words to say about Gov. Robie's address, delivered at the late meeting of the State Grange: Governor Robie rendered a real service to the State when he delivered his annual address as Master of the State Grange. Governor Robie is thoroughly conversant with the business of the State, and has a more widely extended acquaintance among all classes of our citizens than any other man can boast of, and when he speaks in regard to Maine he speaks as one having authority so to do. He proved in his address before the grangers that Maine is going forward, not backward; that progress and improvement is the rule and not the exception, and that here the labor of the toiler is rewarded better than in other States; the advantages are apparently greater. The thanks of all good citizens ought to be returned to Governor Robie for this timely and much needed document.

Commenting on the late session of the National Grange, the Massachusetts Ploughman says: "But, great as the danger is to the Grange from without, the danger threatening it from within is immeasurably greater, because it saps and undermines, deludes and diverts, and is so much more subtle than any externally hostile influence possibly can be. One selfishly ambitious man, proceeding with due caution at first, may more effectually blast the hopes of a Grange organization than all outside schemers and plotters together. It is against such a peril that the order was seriously warned in the beginning and it will be wise to take home the warning to itself at the present time. And so, too, in respect to the creeping in of small differences, the development of personal jealousies, and the growth of inharmonious relations, which are the dry-rot that eats out the life of all unity, and thus prepares the sure way for the final disappointment. Here is the danger to-day for the Grange. What was warned against in the beginning, experience shows the greater need of warning against now. The temptations to which it is exposed, do actually exist. It is the strong anchor of the Grange's safety, that it still contains within its organization, men whose lives and characters are identical with the great cause of agriculture, and no wise self-seekers, factionists, or betrayers. This is a strong and sensible view of the situation, and shows conclusively the great need of keeping the best men in the order at the helm, and of the need of broad and deep and comprehensive minds in the direction, control and management of the interests of the order.

Every true friend of agriculture, says the Maine Farmer, has reason to be proud of the body of noble men and women who met in council at the State Grange, in Augusta, last week, who came from the extremes of the State to deliberate upon matters of importance to the order. The time has passed to speak lightly of the Patrons of Husbandry. The full report spread on these pages testify to the ability displayed. No question of importance to the State, socially, morally or intellectually, but received careful attention and thorough discussion. For the reports of the committee we bespeak a careful reading, as also for the resolutions accepted. These were not hastily read or hurried through, but each received careful discussion, in order that when sent out to the public they should express the best thought of the patrons of Maine. The order, which has each year been growing steadily, has also been planting itself more and more firmly on a basis that will be enduring. Agriculture in Maine today looks to the Grange for its progressive work. Throughout the rural districts this order is coming to be the moulding influence, and is leading the good work of reform on social and intellectual questions. If the wisdom of the present prevails in the future, the patrons of Maine will wield a mighty influence in all reforms. Success to the order is the wish of every one interested in the welfare of the good old State of Maine.

THOUSANDS OF CASES OF

SICK

Headache are permanently cured every year (as the hundreds of testimonials in my possession will testify) by the use of Dr. Leslie's Special Prescription. This Remedy stands to-day without a rival and with scarcely a competitor in the world. Thousands of Physicians throughout the country have acknowledged their inability to cure it, and are now prescribing Dr. Leslie's Special Prescription for all cases of Sick in either its nervous, bilious or congestive form, arising from obstruction, congestion or torpidity of the liver. When I say that Dr. Leslie's Special Prescription will cure the most obstinate cases of Sick Headache, I mean just what I say, and that is, that it not merely relieves, but cures, no matter how long the case may have been standing.

HEADACHE

POSITIVELY

I have testimonials from persons who have been afflicted for twenty years, being confined to bed two or three days at a time every two weeks, that have been permanently cured by two bottles of Dr. Leslie's Special Prescription, so that they have not had an attack for over five years.

If you are troubled with Sick Headache and wish to be

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the Carrier's Delivery can also have their letters sent, as it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning, noon and evening, in season for important mails.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 8 to 8½ P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carrier's department should be reported to the office.

IMMEDIATE DELIVERY.

Messenger boys are constantly in attendance to deliver letters with immediate delivery stamps on arrival of all mails, and for local letters from 7 A. M. to 8.30 P. M., at which hour the office closes. Persons depositing city letters will please put them into the general delivery.

Letters arriving from West Sunday morning delivered on arrival.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window, when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.
